	"The 2015 Gazin has a perfumed bouquet with layers of black cherry, raspberry coulis and truffle scents, more welcoming and sensual than the wines a decade ago from barrel when they intermittently felt under&#345;ripe. There is none of that here for sure. The palate is medium&#345;bodied with sappy black fruit on the entry. There is excellent structure here, a masculine Gazin with plenty of grip, counterbalanced by abundant tertiary, tobacco&#345;tinged black fruit. There is real salinity towards the finish, completing a superb wine by Nicolas de Baillencourt and his team. Do not overlook this Pomerol. It is one of the subtler expressions of the 2015 vintage and one that I am sure will develop beautifully in cask." - Neal Martin, eRobertParker.com #224, Apr 2016 Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 94-96 pts "Ripe, rounded and inviting in feel, with a red licorice frame around a core of plum sauce and cherry preserves. It has a glorious and damn irresistible bouquet of creme de cassis, blueberry, crushed violets and a scintilla of citrus fruit, all beautifully defined and very precise. In 2015 it is determined to put a gap between itself and the Virginie de Valandraud. The palate is medium&#45;bodied with supple tannin, creamy in texture but not in the slightest cloying. The acidity is well judged with layers of caressing black fruit towards a finish for which I could only deploy the word &#45;nubile. "We had a bit of frost towards the end and 10% was harvested afterwards. The quality was affected and this was put into the second wine," winemaker Eric Kohler informed me. This year the grand vin constitutes between one&#45;third and one&#45;fourth of the total crop. It has a fragrant bouquet, of honey, white almond and peach, that is disarmingly seductive. The palate is refined and poised: a lovely thread of acidity here, with a keen mineral&#45;laden finish that leaves the mouth tingling with pleasure. 	"The 2015 Chateau Barde Haut was harvested from September 17 until October 1, a blend of 80% Merlot and 20% Cabernet Franc (the latter figure will increase from 2017 with new plantings.) There is no SO2 used during fermentation, just a little after the malolactic, especially the lots in barrel, the part in tank with almost no SO2. The alcohol level is 14%, which is still less than in the past, with a pH of 3.45 to 3.55. It has a wonderful bouquet, extremely well defined with black cherries, cassis and a subtle marine influence & one of the best that I have tasted from this estate. The palate is very well balanced with fine tannin, a keen thread of acidity, very good tension and nervosite right to the pure and caressing finish. Think of it as the "elder sister" of Poesia. It has a very fine, quite complex bouquet that is one of the finest that I have encountered, the reorganisation of the vines since Jean-Hubert Delon took over in 1997 enhancing the complexity. There is real finesse here, something not always apparent in older vintages in Nenin. The palate is supple and fleshy on the entry. There is a gentle grip on the palate coupled with finesse that is not diminished as its fruit intensifies on the finish. As usual, I have to conjecture how the final blend will manifest itself, a task becoming easier now that I have tasted through individual lots for several years. Clearly, the first tries contain zesty citrus fruit with crisp acidity and strong botrytis character, the second tries lending the structure and the Barsac/Climens character. I noticed a "marine" influence on the final tries picked on October 21 and 23, although here there is a slight attenuation. Putting all this together, I foresee an assured, perhaps slightly lighter but tensile Climens, with the more heavily botrytized fruit delivered toward the end. Quality is certainly on par with a very good vintage, the most impressive lots destined to form major components of the final blend. Round and supple at the outset, with considerable new oak influence, the 2014 finds a bit more finesse on the finish, where veins of cool, refreshing minerality balance the wine's virility and overall intensity. Layers of fruit continue to flesh out in a distinctly powerful, huge Margaux loaded with personality. The 2014 saw about 5 days of cold soak then 26-28 days on the skins, followed by malolactic fermentations that were done 60% in oak and 40% in steel. The blend is 57% Cabernet Sauvignon, 31% Merlot, 7% Cabernet Franc and 5% Petit Verdot." - Antonio Galloni. Tasting date: April 2015 - Reviewed by: Vinous - 90 to 93pts

	"A rich, extroverted wine, the 2014 Marquis de Calon is another unqualified success for the château. Crème de cassis, menthol, licorice, smoke, blackberry jam meld into new leather, tobacco, savory herbs and smoke in a wine that deftly balances rich, unctuous fruit with drive and freshness, qualities that are highly unusual to find together. Hints of lavender and rose petal add the final layers of nuance. Readers should expect a super-ripe, opulent, Merlot-driven wine in a fairly classic frame. The 2014 tips the scales at 14.8% alcohol, yet holds all of its richness very well. Best of all, the 2014 should be a fabulous value. Picked between 30 September and 13 October, it has a ripe, quite opulent bouquet with layers of blackberry, dark plum and incense, a touch of pencil lead with time. The palate is medium-bodied with fine tannin, a little pinched at the moment but it will "relax". The alcohol level is one of the highest ever at 13.85% and yet it is counterbalanced by its freshness. In fact, the finish is quite classic in style and provides a pleasant juxtaposition with the more generous aromatics – it will be interesting to see how they develop during their élevage." - Neal Martin, eRobertParker.com #218, Apr 2015 - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 90 to 92pts

Aged in 30% new oak from several cooperages, it veers towards fleshy red berry fruit on the nose with hints of dried herbs and sous-bois lending personality, something to talk about. The palate is medium-bodied with tobacco infused black fruit, masculine in style with good backbone and impressive precision on the finish. This Saint Estèpe cru has seen a rapid improvement in recent years and this is another fine wine to add to their roster. I expect the bottle sample to land at the upper end of the band and continue the upswing in fortunes since its acquisition by Jacky Lorenzetti." - Neal Martin, eRobertParker.com #218, Apr 2015 - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 90 to 92pts

The palate is medium-bodied with supple ripe tannin, well-judged acidity and a harmonious, elegant finish. Winemaker Jean-Philippe Janoueix usually goes from a more bullish style of Pomerol. 	"The 2014 Reserve de La Comtesse is quite soft and lush in this vintage, in part because of the large presence of Merlot. Dark red cherry, plum, new leather, spices and cloves are super-expressive. Dried flowers, smoke, pencil shavings and dark spices reappear on the open-knit, resonant finish. With time in the glass, the Reserve finds more gracious dimensions of expression, with redder tonalities of fruit intermingled with spice that come forward. I imagine the 2014 will drink well pretty much upon release, as it is already quite open. The blend is 59% Cabernet Sauvignon and 41% Merlot." - Antonio Galloni. It has a rather broody bouquet the demands some encouragement, but eventually reveals blackberry, cold stone and just a touch of violet. Indeed, the floral component comes through strongly with aeration. The palate is medium-bodied with good acidity and tension. The aromatics are not as immediate as the Haut-Batailley and demand more coaxing from the glass, but that comes with the territory. It unfurls with each swirl, black fruits at first, then GPL's trademark, graphite and gravel scents storm into the room. Leaving the glass aside for 10 minutes there is a distant tang of shucked oyster shells. As usual, I suspect that its secrets (or at least some of them) will be unlocked during its barrel maturation. It was picked from 22 September until 6 October for the Merlot and three days later for the Cabernet Franc, matured in around 80% new oak. It has a glorious bouquet with great purity and delineation: raspberry, wild strawberry and small red cherries, very pure and harmonious. The palate is medium-bodied with sensual ripe, filigree tannin, just the right amount of salinity, precise and mineral-rich towards the exquisite, pure and "classic" finish. "This is a fantastic find for me with superb density and length. Very old vine cabernet franc. Full and silky. Incredible length. 4,000 bottle made. Two hectare vineyards. Mostly cabernet franc." - James Suckling, jamesuckling.com Reviewed by: James Suckling - 93-94 pts            "The 2015 Chateau Soutard&amp;#45;Cadet is a 2.106&amp;#45;hectare vineyard, acquired by the Lefevre family in 2015 (owners of Moulin du Cadet and Sansonnet) and located in front of Chateau Soutard. A blend of 90% Merlot and 10% Cabernet Franc and matured entirely in new oak, it has a pure redcurrant and wild strawberry scented bouquet that gains momentum in the glass, but never becomes overpowering. The palate is medium&amp;#45;bodied with fine tannin, well&amp;#45;judged acidity, tensile in the mouth with an appealing touch of graphite and sous&amp;#45;bois on the finish. This is a very appealing, well&amp;#45;crafted Saint Emilion, nuanced and full of personality." - Neal Martin, eRobertParker.com #224, Apr 2016 Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92-94 pts - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92 to 94pts

"The strength of this Pontet Canet is very impressive, making it structured and tannic with a long and intense finish. Yet it turns to bright and vivid fruits. Full body. A modern classic. It builds on the palate." - March 31st, 2015 - Reviewed by: James Suckling - 95 to 96pts
