"Light, with friendly cassis and cherry fruit kissed with a hint of toasty vanilla. The finish is soft and rounded." -Wine Spectator, 88 to 91 pts. "This American-owned estate has been on a qualitative roll for over a decade and the 2010 should rival their 2005 and 2009 as one of the finest wines La Vieille Cure has made. The dense plum/ruby/purple-tinged 2010 exhibits beautiful notes of kirsch liqueur, black currants, licorice and forest floor. Lovely texture and purity, medium to full body and superb fruit intensity result in a gorgeous wine that will be accessible early, but capable of lasting 10-15 years." -Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 91pts

32546	2010 Chateau Villars Fronsac	$19.99	N/A	N/A

"A terrific wine from proprietor Thierry Gaudrie, this wine, which has a similar blend to the La Vieille Cure (73% Merlot, 18% Cabernet Franc and the rest Cabernet Sauvignon), has an inky purple color and a big, sweet kiss of blueberry liqueur intermixed with creme de cassis, camphor, licorice and a hint of graphite. Full-bodied, rich and unctuously textured, this is a seriously endowed Fronsac to drink over the next 15+ years." -Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 90pts

55244	2005 Chateau Les Roches de Ferrand Fronsac	$17.99	N/A	N/A

"This wine is rich and medium-bodied and can well accompany meats, poultry, cheeses and other savory dishes. A deep black "toasty" fruit bouquet is followed by full, round fruit on the palate, supported by the structure imparted by both ripe fruit and oak barrel tannins, with a smooth finish leaving you wanting for nothing. Last, but not least, the wine is an excellent value." - Reviewed by: Producer

20740	2009 Chateau Moulin Pey Labrie Canon de Fronsac	$27.99	N/A	N/A

"This is a big, serious, back-strapping wine meant for long-term aging. In fact, I wouldn-t touch it for another 4-5 years. It is clearly the most masculine, concentrated and structured wine of the Canon-Fronsac area. A lot of Merlot is in the wine, but Cabernet Franc and possibly a little Cabernet Sauvignon are also included. This inky purple wine displays notes of Asian plum sauce, creme de cassis and blackberry liqueur as well as a hint of lead pencil shavings. Big, full-bodied, and seriously endowed, this massive Canon-Fronsac needs time to calm down. However, everything is present - acidity, tannin, extract and substantial richness. This is an impressive wine as well as a sleeper of the vintage."-Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 90pts

55554	2006 Chateau Fontenil Fronsac	$21.99	N/A	N/A

"Shows black licorice and dark fruits on the nose and palate. Full-bodied, with crushed blackberry and toasty oak. There's lots of fruit. Impressive." - Reviewed by: Wine Spectator - 90pts

32900	2010 Chateau Moulin Haut Laroque Fronsac	$27.99	N/A	N/A

"Juicy and nicely packed, with a succulent core of plum, blackberry and crushed black cherry framed by slightly austere charcoal and tobacco leaf notes. Racy acidity drives the finish and should knit the dark fruit and minerality together." - Reviewed by: Wine Spectator - 91pts

21542	2009 Chateau Fontenil Fronsac	$29.99	N/A	N/A

"The basic Fontenil has a deep bluish purple color and relatively hefty alcohol at 14.5%, but it is not noticeable in this full-bodied, layered, opulent wine, with lots of black raspberry fruit intermixed with some blueberries and crushed rock. Both of these wines have a good 10-15 years of potential in a fine cellar."-Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts
