50115	2009 Galil Mountain Yiron	$24.99	N/A	N/A
	"There's good balance, power and richness to the dried berry flavors, which are flanked by savory and mineral notes. The muscular finish features plenty of tannins." - Reviewed by: Wine Spectator - 87pts
51538	2009 Domaine du Castel Grand Vin	$74.99	N/A	N/A
	"As tends to be the case, this is tighter, more focused, more powerful and a bit harder edged than the Petit Castel – not surprising considering that this is Cabernet-dominated and the Petit Castel is Merlot-dominated – but they still have similar styles. This is a moderately earthy wine this year – less earthy than the 2009 Petit Castel, though – with seductive texture and focus." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts
58493	2009 Borgo Reale Maturo	$21.99	N/A	N/A
	"A real son of the Italian South, this wine shows such an intense depth of color that one feels the promise of interest to follow. This comes in the form of an elegant bouquet, deep and endowed with jammy fruit, with hints of tobacco leaves, rose petals, fig. Like the nose, the mouth is filled with interlocking sensations, with sweet fruit flavors on the entry, then deep ripe sweet tannins guaranteeing a lingering dry finish." - Reviewed by: Producer

46617	2009 Carmel Appellation Cabernet Sauvignon Upper Galilee	$21.99	N/A	N/A
	"Violet, blackberry, cassis and blueberry aromas immediately waft from the glass. Rich and ripe, the palate boasts more of the same concentrated fruit in a lush, creamy, crushed-velvet-like texture. Notes of charred espresso bean, vanilla pod and licorice root all unfold on the long finish. Balanced, delicious and affordable." - Reviewed by: The Wine Enthusiast - 90pts

53302	2009 Binyamina Reserve Late Harvest Gewurztraminer	$23.99	N/A	N/A
	"The 2009 Gewurztraminer Reserve "Late Harvest Cluster Select" is quite sweet, laced with apricot and peach notes, and lots of sugar. With a little air, there was finally a little acidity noticeable, but the wine did flatten pretty fast and thin. This is hard to resist on some levels, but it could use a bit more focus and penetration. While these always have the potential to age, considering what they are and what they are intended to be, I like to be conservative in drinking windows as I find they often show best young." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 88pts

	"Full-bodied wine exhibiting blackberry, cherry and licorice aromas and flavors, with mocha and vanilla from the barrel aging. This wine is nicely balanced with ample but smooth tannins. Enjoy with grilled portabello mushrooms, roast turkey or grilled steak." - Reviewed by: Producer
