Aromas of beef blood, smoked meats, charcuterie, raspberries and black cherries soar from this full-bodied, superb effort. While nearly too exotic and kinky, its length, richness, full-bodied mouthfeel and multidimensional personality result in a sensational Chateauneuf du Pape that I adored. Forget it for 3-5 years and drink it over the following two decades." -Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 95pts

	"Performing considerably better than it did prior to bottling, the 2010 Vieux Telegraphe Chateauneuf du Pape is one of the all-time great Vieux Telegraphes I have tasted in the last 3+ decades. The 2010 boasts a dense purple color along with a sumptuous bouquet of spring flowers, boysenberries, black cherries, black currants, nori (the sushi seaweed wrapper), black olives, licorice and pepper. This full-bodied, meaty, thick, juicy effort possesses a boatload of tannin, but it also has incredible concentration. More massive than I remember from last year, it has put on considerable weight and intensity." - Reviewed by: Wine Spectator - 96pts

	"A profound example of finesse and power packed into a 100% Grenache cuvee, this opaque purple-colored offering boasts loads of cassis, kirsch, lavender and floral notes, a full-bodied mouthfeel, and a delicate, light, ethereal style. A wine of great majesty, exquisite flavor concentration and unbelievable complexity, it can be drunk over the next quarter of a century. Bravo to Peter Weygandt, Baptiste Grangeon and their oenologist, Gerard Lafont!" -Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 96 to 98pts

	"I don't know what more a wine could offer. Inky blue/purple, with an extraordinary nose of smoked duck, grilled steaks, Provencal herbs, blackberries, blueberries, kirsch, licorice and truffle, enormously massive, concentrated, full-bodied and built for 30-50 years of cellaring, this wine, which is dominated by its Mourvedre component, is a tour de force, a spectacular, world-class wine. It should again be almost ageless in its potential." -Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 100pts

	"The 2010 Villa Creek Avenger is a blend of 60% Syrah, 30% Mourvedre and 10% Grenache that was fermented with 30% whole cluster and aged in 50% new French oak. It has loads of sweet raspberries and plum-styled fruit that’s intermixed with baking spices, ground pepper, licorice and floral qualities on the nose. This flows to go a full-bodied, supple and textured wine that has solid mid-palate concentration, beautiful freshness and sweet tannin that emerges on the lengthy, chewy finish." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 91pts
