	"The 2012 Macon Lugny Les Charmes comes from 40-year-old vines on chalky soil. It has an attractive bouquet of apple-blossom and lime flower that is very well-defined and expressive with hints of Alpine stream and a touch of almond in the background. The palate is well-balanced with tangerine and orange zest on the entry, leading to some attractive honey notes toward the rounded, generous finish. Although it needs a little more tension to carry it off, this is an admirable Macon." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 90pts

	"This fine 2012, with its pale yellow colour and emerald highlights is naturally unctuous due to the low yields of the vintage; there are beautiful white fruit aromas that mix very-well with fine almond notes. There are also Muscat-like aromatics that can be smelt and which linger in the mouth. A wine to be savored whilst young with lovely minerality and focused finish." - Reviewed by: Producer

The nose is tightly coiled with subtle leesy aromas infused with acacia and lemon rind. The palate is well-balanced with a fine thread of acidity, the clayey soils lending the power and thrust on the spice-tinged finish, which retains wonderful elegance." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts
