Honey wine with tea & lemon juice. From the label: "It's been a long day. I had to hide out in my burrow for the better part of the day waiting for those damn golfers. But today was my day, I finally did it. I didn't even need a reason. I wonder if they received total consciousness. It's like a Cinderella story, out of nowhere, a former dancing gopher becomes a killing champion. I had my special drink, a half & half, while I got in touch with that force in the universe that makes things happen. All I had to do was stop thinking...let things happen...and B. A translation of its contents revealed the recipe for an ancient beverage using mango juice, honey, and black pepper. What they didn't realize was that creating the beverage had dire consequences. Stricken by fear after its compleation, the friends tried to contain the terrifying forces into this very bottle. Once opened, however, no one can say for sure if it can be conquered. Honey wine with cherry and hops added. "The mead is inspired by a cherry lambic. We use Michigan wildflower honey as the base for this mead, and add tart Michigan Balaton cherry juice and then dry hop it with Styrian Golding hops. The taste is sweet, tart, acidic, with a mild bitterness from the hops. The aroma is pure heaven." From the label: "In the battle of Craft vs. Crafty, the time has come for the dwarves to show the giants they mean business. With blades as sharp as Balaton cherries, they can cut their way through the deceit with the ease of pure honey flowing over fresh hops. Le Nain Rouge is known to appear before a tragic event and this time is no exception. It's only a matter of time before the dwarves declare their victory. This is no mere movement.
