It was bottled without fining or filtration after spending time in mostly French and some American oak. It boasts a dense purple color along with wonderful sweet, jammy strawberry and black cherry notes intermixed with floral, licorice, graphite and spice characteristics. This dense red reveals a terrific texture as well as a full-bodied mouthfeel, yet it is light on its feet. What it usually lacks in depth, it makes up for in purity and fruity elegance, partly, no doubt, because it leans to the tank rather than the barrel. It is no weak sister, showing notable power and some concentration relative to the level, perhaps exceeding last year's version. While still fresh and exuberant, the serious backbone gives this a bit of gravitas. You're not getting off easy here just because it is a second wine that says "young vines." The mid-palate is still elegantly constructed, but then it finishes with that astringent bang. The color is light, not unusual for this grape. 	"Inky ruby. Spice-accented aromas and flavors of black and blue fruits and cola, with notes of dark chocolate and licorice. Concentrated and powerful on the palate, with a spicy note building with air. Intense licorice, blackcurrant and bitter cherry notes linger on the spicy, youthfully tannic finish. Outstanding value here; there are very few all-graciano Riojas made, and they all cost a lot more than this one." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 90pts

	"The 1997 Recioto della Valpolicella Classico is a gorgeous, refined wine with layers of sweet, perfumed fruit that flow gracefully from its medium-bodied frame. The 1997 Recioto isn't quite as extroverted as the profound 1995, but it does offer impeccable balance in a relatively understated, slender style for this house. Sweet spices, licorice, leather and incense linger on the long and immensely satisfying finish. I tasted the 1997 Recioto from both 375ml and 750ml bottles and found the wine consistently superb." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 94pts
