| | "The term '304' for our un-oaked Chardonnay comes from the steel industry's designation for the food-grade stainless steel that is produced with the highest possible nickel and chromium content. Our Chardonnay '304' is fermented, then aged in these high-grade stainless steel tanks, and has no wood aging. It's given extended yeast-lees contact through a pump-over system that enhances the flavor, broadens the texture, and increases the stability of the wine." - Reviewed by: Producer | | | |

| | "Antica's 2011 Chardonnay is laced with lemon peel, white flowers, spices and crushed rocks. In this vintage, the estate's Chardonnay is especially rich and powerful, largely because the irregular flowering lowered yields by 50%. This is an unusual Chardonnay that is bright in its aromas and flavors but fairly broad-shouldered in style." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts | | | |

"A brilliant pale straw color with a hint of green. Its green undertone demonstrates the freshness of this wine as it was handled extremely to carefully avoid exposure to oxygen from harvest to bottle. The wine is bursting with ultra-ripe ruby red grapefruit, passion fruit, lychee, white peach, and banana aromas. The palate is bright and focused, suggesting citrus compote laced with white pepper spice. The mouth-watering finish is crisp and long, its peachy citrus notes echoing through to the next sip."

| | "Aromatics are the order of the day for our Napa chardonnay, which speaks loudly of our cool climate, marine-influenced vineyard. Oaks take a lesser role in recent vintages, and we celebrate the fresh, crisp style that complements many foods by allowing less than a quarter of the wine to undergo malolactic fermentation. Bright fruits boasting of pear and green apple are accented with a bit of citrus zest and honeybell, balanced with a creamy brioche and touch of vanilla. We age the wine in mostly neutral French oak to enhance mouthfeel. This is the new face of California chardonnay, a wine to enjoy as an apéritif or as a worthy complement to wonderful presentations of your favorite dishes." - Reviewed by: Producer | | | |
