49844	2010 Raymond Usseglio Chateaufeuf du Pape Cuvee Girard	$99.99	N/A	N/A
	"The American importer produces a slightly different blend called Chateaufeuf du Pape Cuvee Girard, and the 2009 and 2010 are essentially identical in quality. The 2010 Chateaufeuf du Pape Girard reveals slightly more meatiness and garrigue notes than the 2009, but the two wines are similar in every other aspect. Full-bodied, rich and pure, it, like the 2009, will evolve over the next 10-15 years." -Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 90 to 92pts

	"The 2003 Beaufenard Chateaufeuf du Pape Hommage a Jacques Perrin has turned out even better than I thought last year. Black purple to the rim, with an extraordinary nose of smoke, camphor, blackberry, cassis, sweet cherry, white flowers, licorice, and Chinese black tea, the wine has superb richness, huge tannins, massive concentration, and a monster finish." 	"This is dense and chewy, but not tiring to drink, thanks to fresh acidity and an edgy, gravelly feel that drives the blackberry, currant and sweet spice notes. The long finish has great briary grip, with notes of garrigue and hot stone checking in." - Reviewed by: Wine Spectator - 95pts

49845	2009 Raymond Usseglio Chateaufeuf du Pape Cuvee Imperiale	$69.99	N/A	N/A
	"One of the top Chateaufeuf du Papes of the vintage is the 2009 Chateaufeuf du Pape Cuvee Imperiale-Vigne Centenaires (from 100-year-old vines planted in pure sand). A blend of 90% Grenache and the rest Syrah, Mourvedre, Cinsault, Counoise, and Muscardin (a real field blend), this wine is close to rivaling their great 2007. Its stunning blue/purple color (remarkable for Grenache grown in sand) is followed by a full-bodied wine revealing exquisite concentrated notes of incense, lavender, camphor, black cherries and black currant liqueur. Tell-tale licorice and pepper characteristics are also present in this voluptuously textured, fleshy, full-bodied effort that is already drinkable. One of the stars of the vintage, it is capable of lasting 15-20 years." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 95pts

	"Bright ruby-red. Black raspberry, cherry compote, potpourri and Asian spices on the highly perfumed nose. Juicy red and dark berry flavors stain the palate, showing terrific clarity and spicy lift. The spicy quality comes back strong on the finish, which is framed by silky, harmonious tannins. In a graceful, almost weightless style, with zero excess fat but noteworthy flavor intensity." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 93pts

	"Black raspberry and cherry compote on the pungent, intensely perfumed nose. Sappy, palate-staining red and dark berry flavors are impressively deep and braced by tangy acidity. Becomes weightier with aeration, which also brings out a licorice quality. Rich but suave and energetic, with excellent finishing clarity and length." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 93pts

	"More restrained than usual, with more minerality and acidity, which is in keeping with the vintage character. While still relatively exotic, everything is more buttoned down. However, the overall impression is of a full-bodied, powerful, honeyed white wine with superb depth, richness, and potential complexity. This beauty should be at its peak between 2010 and 2015." 	"The most backward and meaty of this trio is the 2010 Chateaufeuf du Pape La Guigasse. Another "locked and loaded," potentially legendary Chateaufeuf du Pape from this lieu-dit, it possesses the highest level of tannins and more acidity than its siblings. Aromas of beef blood, smoked meats, charcuterie, raspberries and black cherries soar from this full-bodied, superb effort. While nearly too exotic and kinky, its length, richness, full-bodied mouthfeel and multidimensional personality result in a sensational Chateaufeuf du Pape that I adored. Forget it for 3-5 years and drink it over the following two decades." -Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 95pts

	"The 2009 Chateaufeuf du Pape is performing even better from bottle than it did last year. Composed of 47% Grenache, 38% Syrah and 15% Mourvedre, it is surprisingly soft and evolved for La Nerthe, but that actually gives the wine additional appeal. Its dense ruby/purple hue is followed by aromas of blue and black fruits, lavender, licorice, truffles and garrigue. Full-bodied, supple textured, fleshy and succulent." -Robert Parker, Jr. - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts
