	"Light yellow-gold. Pear, nectarine and yellow plum aromas are brightened by honeysuckle and dusty minerals. Broad and fleshy but energetic, offering ripe orchard fruit flavors and a bitter kick of lemon zest. Finishes with good grip and tangy persistence, leaving a musky pear skin note behind." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 88pts
59118	2012 Nora Albarino	$14.99	N/A	N/A
	"Pale yellow. Spicy pear and melon aromas are complicated by notes of dusty minerals and honeysuckle. Silky and gently sweet on entry, then tighter in the mid-palate, offering lively citrus and orchard fruit flavors and a touch of white pepper. The floral note repeats on the firm, focused finish, which shows very good clarity and persistence." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 90pts

	"Bright straw. Pungent lemon, grapefruit and anise scents are complicated by white pepper and quinine. Light-bodied, bitter citrus flavors show a slightly tart edge, refreshing bitterness and a hint of ginger. Finishes with lime zest and quince notes and good grip." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 88pts
66667	2012 Pazo de Senorans Albarino	$22.99	N/A	N/A
	"One of the leading producers of Albarino, the glorious dry white made in northwest Spain, Pazo de Senorans' 2012 Albarino (from slate and gravelly soils) was fermented and aged on its lees with lees stirring. Abundant tropical fruit (pineapple, mango, melons) aromas jump from the glass. The same characteristics linger on the palate, along with wonderful intensity, medium body and terrific purity, texture and freshness. As the wine sits in the glass, undertones of apricots and white peaches emerge." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts

	"The 2012 Pazo de Galegos Albarino comes from a small estate that has been in existence since the 1500s (and apparently has one of Spain's oldest vines, allegedly 500 years in age, with a trunk the size of a large tree). Aged in stainless steel tanks and put through partial malolactic fermentation, the wine exhibits lots of honeyed tropical fruit, orange marmalade, pineapple and apricot characteristics. Attractively fleshy, these wines need to be consumed in their exuberant, fresh youth." -Robert Parker, Jr. - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 89pts
