65855	2011 Aberrant Cellars Carpe Noctum Pinot Noir	$53.99	N/A	N/A
	"Deeply ripe but ultimately infectiously juicy cherry and plum are garlanded with diverse flowers and underlain with mouthwatering roasted red meat juiciness and marrowy richness. The piquancy of fruit pits and invigorating crunch of berry seeds are surpassed in efficacy by a saliva-liberating streak of salinity allied to alkalinity and stoniness, as well as a lentil sprout-like burst of nutty and positively vegetal flavor, all of which combine for a finish of dazzling interactive complexity and exhilarating energy that compels you to take the next sip." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 94pts

	"Fresh boysenberry and purple plum are garlanded with bitter-sweet flowers; tinged with brown spices; underlain with clean red meatiness; and suffused with saliva-liberating salinity in a Pinot of refined tannins and outstanding persistence." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 91pts
61967	2011 Ayoub Pinot Noir Memoirs	$35.99	N/A	N/A
	"Ayoub's 2011 Pinot Noir Memoirs is one of those 2011 Willamette Pinots with a radish-like bite and citrus oil piquancy; yet even when taken together with a bright, crunchy expression of red berries, this offers a polished and incipiently rich if texturally spare mid-palate. Cherry pit piquancy and saliva-liberating salinity – along with bite and sizzle of radish, cress and fresh ginger – inflect a long, invigorating finish." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 91pts
66294	2010 Argyle Brut	$23.99	N/A	N/A
	"Argyle's 2010 Brut – nearly half each Chardonnay and Pinot – displays juicy lime, tangerine, grapefruit and apple, with citric and malic cut buffered by subtle, lees-induced creaminess, and with a fine mousse. There is an impressive balance between density and sheer sap on the one hand and levity and refreshment on the other. A saline streak serves for welcome saliva-inducement in a long, vibrant finish." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 91pts
54718	2011 Kelley Fox Pinot Noir Mirabai	$34.99	N/A	N/A
	"Tart-edged, juicy fresh cherry and red currant, are steeped with pits, seeds and grapefruit rind and tinged with white pepper for an incisive, invigoratingly piquant, and exhilaratingly refreshing performance that has much of non-malo white wine character – as well as, to be sure, much that's uniquely Pinot – about it. The saline savor and bursting finishing intensity left my salivary glands in a prolonged state of palpitation. This extremely energetic and athletically lean Pinot should be fascinating not to mention stimulating to follow through at least 2022, and quite possibly well beyond." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts

65856	2010 Kelley Fox Pinot Noir Momtazi Vineyard McMinnville	$39.99	N/A	N/A
	"The energy and incisiveness on display here is matched by an athletic, sinewy sense of leanness and structure. Sour cherry and red currant, holly berry and juniper – all in distilled as well as raw form; beet root and horseradish, inform the sappy fundament of this remarkable, vibrant, grippingly piquant Pinot. Expect a mouth-shaking and enervating performance for the foreseeable future, and quite probably surplus stamina past 2025." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 93pts
52788	2010 Adelsheim Pinot Noir Elizabeth's Reserve	$49.99	$45.99*	8%
	"Bright red. A complex, highly perfumed bouquet evokes candied red fruits, rhubarb and allspice, with musky herb and vanilla nuances building in the glass. Offers an array of red fruit flavors that put on weight and gain spiciness with air. A floral note comes up on the finish, which clings with impressive tenacity and focus. I suspect that this wine will age nicely on its balance. But the way, the 2003 version of this wine is drinking extremely well right now." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 92pts

66091	2011 Shea Wine Cellars Pinot Noir Shea Vineyard Estate	$39.99	N/A	N/A
	"The 2011 Pinot Noir Shea Vineyard weighs in at just 13% alcohol, which I suspect plays a role in toning down or at least improving the "fit" of the flavors that were extracted from its 50% share of new barrels. Crunchy and tart-edged pomegranate and cranberry are mingled with a faint bite of horseradish both in the nose and on the firm, invigorating palate, underlain by forest floor diversity. Sappy and finely tannic; vivacious without the least sense of thinness, this finishes with handsome and downright refreshing length." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 91pts

65853	2011 Arterberry Maresh Pinot Noir Maresh Vineyard	$49.99	N/A	N/A
	"The Arterberry Maresh 2011 Pinot Noir Maresh Vineyard pours forth an ethereally high-toned combination of red berry distillates, fresh berry scents, and nut extracts. Ginseng tea and bittersweetly perfumed iris waft across generously juicy cherry and red currant, while mineral salts, meat broth, mushroom stock and crustacean shell reduction all open the doors to umami and liberate the salivary glands in an incandescent and ravishingly rejuvenating finish. Also reminiscent in this 2011 of a perfectly resolved, mature wine is the silken-smooth palate texture, along with an almost airy sense of levity and elegance, yet all the while allied though to penetrating fruit and mineral intensity. I can't imagine it proving less than amazing through at least 2027." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 95pts
