74779	2013 Melville Viognier Estate Verna's	$26.99	N/A	N/A
	"The 2013 Viognier Estate Verna's is another outstanding effort from Greg that also represents a smoking value. Giving up classic apricot, pineapple and loads of floral qualities (almost a flower oil-like quality) to go with a medium-bodied, unctuously textured, yet still surprisingly fresh and focused style on the palate. Aged 6 months in neutral oak, it's an impressive Viognier to enjoy over the coming year or two." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 90pts

	"Made by Mike MacMorran and coming 70% from the estate Force Majeure Vineyard and 30% from Ciel du Cheval, the 2012 Viognier is 100% Viognier that was aged half in concrete and half in neutral oak. Made in a steely, fresh style, yet with plenty of building richness, it offers up pure aromas and flavors of white peaches, pear, citrus rind and subtle hints of flowers as well as a medium-bodied, juicy and perfectly balanced feel in the mouth. Slated for release next year and opening up beautifully in the glass (it was just bottled at the time of this tasting), I suspect it will gain additional weight and richness prior to release. Classy stuff and very well done." - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 92pts

	"Another stunning white is the 2012 Viognier, which has malolactic fermentation blocked, and is fermented and aged six months in both neutral French oak and stainless steel. It is a big, sexy fruit bomb offering lots of honeysuckle, apricot marmalade, and tropical fruits. What makes it so successful is that it possesses terrific acidity and a hint of wet stones/minerality, which is unusual for a California Viognier. No doubt their mountain top site helped promote this characteristic." - Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 91pts
