73294	2013 Burgans Albarino	$13.99	N/A	N/A
	"Albarino has been very trendy for nearly a decade, and Martin Codax's 2013 Burgans Albarino is one of the better efforts. This 100% Albarino aged in stainless steel with lees stirring comes from a steep hillside, inland site that is harvested three to four weeks later than most of the coastal Albarinos. A custom cuvee put together by Eric Solomon, it offers crisp, fresh, lively honeysuckle, white peach and apricot notes, medium-bodied, dry flavors, and lots of fruit and perfume." - Robert Parker - Reviewed by: The Wine Advocate - 89pts

	"Light yellow-gold. Lively aromas of lime pith, green apple and dusty minerals, with a subtle floral quality coming up with air. Displays a taut, focused character, with tangy acidity lifting fresh citrus and orchard fruit flavors. Dry, steely and focused, with hints of anise and white pepper on the finish." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 88pts

	"Light yellow-gold. Pear, nectarine and yellow plum aromas are brightened by honeysuckle and dusty minerals. Broad and fleshy but energetic, offering ripe orchard fruit flavors and a bitter kick of lemon zest. Finishes with good grip and tangy persistence, leaving a musky pear skin note behind." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 88pts

	"Pale, green-tinged yellow. Intense, mineral-laced aromas of candied citrus fruits, quince and honeysuckle. Dry and precise, offering incisive lemon and bitter quinine flavors and a deeper note of pear skin. Closes silky and long, with nervy acidity adding lift and finishing bite." - Reviewed by: International Wine Cellar - 90pts

	"Vanilla wafer, dusty apple and minerality combine to form a clean, true Albariño bouquet. The mouthfeel is solid, with acidic kick, while flavors of pastry, citrus, apple and spice meld nicely in front of a long, fresh finish that's neither pointed nor acidic." - Reviewed by: The Wine Enthusiast - 88pts
