955013	2016 Tablas Creek Patelin de Tablas Blanc	$22.99	N/A	N/A
	"The 2016 Patelin de Tablas Blanc is intensely Rhone-like on the nose, with notes of nectarines, pineapple, jasmine, and sweet spice. In the mouth, it's electric with passion fruit, peach pit, and lime zest flavors, saline and crushed rock on the mid-palate, with mouth-watering acidity softening into creamy richness on the finish, leaving lingering flavors of sweet spice. Drink now and for the next 2-3 years." Reviewed by: Producer

	"The 2015 Patelin de Tablas has a savory, dark, Syrah-driven nose of blackberries, crushed rock, menthol and saddle leather, with a little sweet lift like honey graham crackers. The mouth shows black cherry, loam, and pepper spice, with chalky tannins and flavors of cranberry and freshly turned earth that come out on the finish. Delicious now, but with the substance and balance to age for up to a decade." Reviewed by: Producer

	"Inky ruby. Ripe cherry, floral pastilles, black pepper and allspice on the perfumed nose. Densely packed, sweet and focused in the mouth, offering intense dark berry and bitter cherry flavors that slowly become sweeter with aeration. Shows very good energy and strong lift on the clinging, spicy finish, which is framed by youthfully chewy tannins." -Josh Reynolds, Sep 2016 Reviewed by: Vinous - 90-92 pts - Reviewed by: Vinous - 90 to 92pts

	"Fresh-pressed boysenberry and olallie-berry aromas are lifted by tons of inviting violet florality, garrigue-like potpourri and oak forest underbrush on the nose of this blend of 44% Grenache, 36% Syrah, 12% Counoise and 8% Mourvèdre. Mulberry and black-plum flavors are fruit-forward, enhanced by toasted vanilla bean. A lavender lift carries deep into the finish." -Matt Kettmann, Oct 2016 Reviewed by: The Wine Enthusiast - 92 pts "Bright ruby. Mineral-accented red fruit liqueur scents are complemented by suggestions of white pepper and candied flowers. Fleshy, seamless and gently sweet on the palate, offering juicy cherry and raspberry flavors underscored by a smoky mineral quality. Shows excellent clarity and spicy lift on the finish, which is given shape by smooth, harmonious tannins. The Grenache component is really showing itself right now." -Josh Reynolds, Sep 2016 Reviewed by: Vinous - 92 pts - Reviewed by: The Wine Enthusiast - 92pts

	"The Côtes de Tablas super-polished and refined. The flavors are especially dark and intense this year, even though Grenache is the principal grape. Dark red and blue fruit, lavender, rose petal and spice notes are all laced together. This is one of the more laid back wines of the year at Tablas Creek, but there is good structure to match the wine's understated personality." - Antonio Galloni.
