51092	Deschutes Chainbreaker White IPA "Far from the most popular Deschutes offering, but close to the most unique. Closer to a witbier than an IPA, yet too hoppy to be a witbier, and too spiced to be an IPA. At times you will feel as if you are drinking one or the other. Even though there are only a few out there, this is the best version of a White IPA on our shelves." - Reviewed by: Binny's	$9.99	$8.99*	10%

Because its not over the top - a blend of 6 hops and 80 IBU's are restrained by a huge dose of Carastan malts. 72885	Deschutes Black Butte XXVI Anniversary Ale "The beer pours dark brown/black with an inch tan head that stuck around a while. There's also a good amount of lacing. Aroma is nice, the brew smells like bittersweet and milk chocolate, molasses, burnt/charred malt, berries and vanilla. The taste is nice too! It tastes like bittersweet and milk chocolate, molasses, pomegranate, cranberry, burnt/charred malt, vanilla, and a bit of licorice and coffee. There's a good mix of bitter, sweet, and tart flavors. Mouthfeel/body is medium/full, it's creamy and coating with a moderate amount of carbonation. It's an interesting (and tasty) brew." - Reviewed by: Beeradvocate.com	$16.99	$13.79*	19%

69124	Deschutes Mirror Mirror	$16.99	N/A	N/A
	"Pours really cloudy/hazy muddled brown color with a slight tinge of red mahogany. The khaki head is one finger that dissipates to around the glass. Raisins, ripe plumbs, dark cherries, caramel and malts. There's a hint of alcohol booze and oak overlapping it all. Sweet caramel, brown sugar, malts and dark fruits (raisin/plum) abound with the ever slightest wine character along with oak that comes out at the end. Full bodied and medium to low carbonation. Has a thick mouthfeel that is sticky, velvety and a wet finish. A stellar English barleywine by itself, but the addition of wine barrels brings complexity and another dimension." - Reviewed by: Beeradvocate.com
